The Tigers scored four runs in the fourth on four hits and Mitchell's wild throw. The Indians' trio of runs resulted from a gift to Rodgers, Liebold's single, and doubles by Turner and Chapman. Harvard Club Loses Hardfought Ten-inning Battle to Brooklanders.

In an extra inning game that was full of thrills and poor plays on the part of both teams, Catholic University yester-day defeated Harvard at American League Park by 2 to 1 in ten innings of play.

Both teams were a bit nervous at the start of the fray, but, after the opening chapter, they warmed up to their work and drew blanks till the third, when C. U. pried the lid off with a run over the plate. This one run lead looked awful good, as Don Johnson was going along at top speed, holding Harvard safe. In the seventh Harvard knotted the count. After two hands were out. Fripp was given a life on Cheves' error, stole second, and kept around to third on Ringrose's throw to stop him, which went into center field. He accred on Hart's hit. This was all the scoring the big Crimson team could do.

Caffrey Starts Oction.

Neither team could get a man furthe around than third base till the tenth, when Caffrey rolled a slow one at the which Garritt could not get to first in time to get the out. Instead, he threw wild, and Caffrey pulled up at Detroit Retains Possession of First Place by Beating Indians by

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

New York, April 22.-The only thing that can save the Yankees from another beating here tomorrow is rain, according to the way the Griffmen feel tonight for victory this afternoon, when New York was jostled out of third place, has added a heap of confidence to the Griffithian clan.
Walter Johnson is slated to pitch tomorrow, and he will probably be opposed by Ray Caldwell, as the sllm hurler is back in harness again and able to take his turn on the rubber.

Manager Griffith explained the change in his batting order today, when Acosta was sent to right and Rondeau in left, as follows: "I haven't made up my mind yet just who my regular outfielders will be. I want the strongest hitting and be. I want the strongest hitting and fielding combination possible; that's why I am giving Acosta and Rondeau a Moeller Not With Club.

Jim Shaw in the eighth inning had Peckin-paugh's throw beaten a full step, but paugh's throw beaten a full step, but was declared out by Mullaney. Clyde Milan wrenched his ankle running to third base on Gandil's hit in the seventh, and although he stuck it out until the ninth, when he reached first on a safe hit of his own, he was told to go to the dressing room, and Shanks substituted in center during the final half of

The prettiest play of the game came in the Yankees' third when two were out, Hartzell on third and Cree on second with Pipp up. Pipp sent a scorcher down the first base line which Gandil grabbed with one hand, and finding that he could not get back to the base to head of Pipp, Gandil chased over toward second and with a quick throw to McBride caught Cree off the bag asleep, retiring the side. Hartzell had plenty of time to score while this was going on, but for some reason or other he remained glued to third base. The Nationals play an exhibition game in Newark, N. ## Hilltoppers are Ready for the Big Game With Harvard Today the big occasion today. Yale and Princeton were defeated by the Hill-toppers, and it remains but for the Blue and Gray to score a victory over the "Rig Crimson" club to put them in the running for the col-legiate honors.

One of the largest crowds in recent years in the history of base-ball at Georgetown are expected to be on hand when Eddle Mahan, the mainstay of the Harvard pitching staff, faces "Hag" Heaggarty, the most dependable hurler of Coach O'Relliy's crew.

From the condition and form shown by both clubs during their past games some classy and interesting baseball is promised the fans who journey to the Hilltop today.

Besides Mahan, the Harvard squad is made up of other stars, namely: Charles Brickley, the great drop kicker of Crimson football fame, who will alternate with "Tacks" Hardwick in left field in today's game!
